

Original photo by Apollo: flickr/p/Kzz5F7

Beyond the Stigma: Understanding Ayahuasca and Healing with Therapeutic Psychedelics

Monday, March 29, 4 p.m.

Register via Zoom at links.asu.edu/PsychotropicsAndHealing

On National Vietnam War Veterans Day, join ASU's Office for Veteran and Military Academic Engagement for a conversation on the history, neuroscience, bioethics, philosophy of mind, and the current state of research, observations, and therapeutic use of psychotropics.

Join researchers and therapists to explore the experience and therapeutics of psychedelic use.

Panelists

Maura Priest and Alexander Criddle

ASU School of Historical, Philosophical and Religious Studies

Candace Lewis

ASU Department of Psychology and The Translational Genomics Research Institute (Tgen)

Broc Pagni

ASU School of Life Sciences

Mollie Pleet

PsyD, clinical psychologist, research fellow at University of California, San Francisco and SF VA

Andres Ospina

U.S. Marine Corps veteran

Hosted by Manu Avilés-Santiago, OVMAE director and associate professor of Communication and Culture.

From Shock to Awe Documentary Screening

Monday, March 22, 4:00 p.m. (Arizona Time)

Register via Zoom at links.asu.edu/FromShockToAwe

OVMAE invites you to the screening of "From Shock To Awe." The documentary chronicles the journeys of military veterans as they seek relief from PTSD (Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder) with the help of ayahuasca, MDMA ("Ecstasy"), and cannabis.